To Test the Law.

Sheriff Clark will bring suit against the commissioners of Delaware county for pay for arresting and transferring Rollin Linger to Muncie. The payment was refused on the ground that the County Council failed to make appropriations for such expenses. The suit is to get an interpretation of the law governing the council's action in not making an appropriation, and will be of interest in ail parts of the State, as there is scarcely a county that has not made transfers.

NEW AND IMPORTANT INDUSTRY AT HARTFORD CITY.

Innocent Bystander Shot in a Kokomo Street Row-Coal Company Organized at Linton-Necrological.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. HARTFORD CITY, Ind., March 24,-Today the Hubbard ground and chipped glass factory went into operation. The buildings formerly housed the largest spoke factory in the United States and the oldest manufacturing industry in Blackford county, but the scarcity of timber in this vicinity necessitated either the removal of the plant or its abandonment. It has been converted into a chipped glass factory, and will be operated twelve months in the year. The capacity of the plant will be about double that of the American Window Glass Company's chipped glass factory here, reruted to be the most extensive in the United States. Frederick Brown, who for a number of years has been foreman of the trust's plant, has been engaged by Mr. Hubbard. Chipped glass is used extensively in partitions, offices, cars, etc. It obstructs the view, but admits the light, and is also made from plate and colored glass. The Hubbard Company will purchase its supply of glass instead of manufacturing it.

WASHINGTON, March 24 .- Inquiry here

POWDER AND PAY DAYS

TWO STUMBLING BLOCKS IN THE WAY OF A MINE SETTLEMENT.

Wage Scale Agreed To, but the Miners and Operators Have a Sharp Tilt on These Two Points.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 24.-When the joint committee of operators and miners adjourned last night, after three sessions that day, it was with the understanding that to-day all the delegates to the miners' convention and all the operators in town should be present and that an open meeting be held. The request came from the miners. The operators think the miners' representatives on the joint committee preferred that their fellow-miners should hear the arguments of the operators on the two questions on which the controversy is likely to proceed all next week. These are the rights to a weekly pay day and to buy powder wherever they please. The operators think the committeemen from the miners' convention were afraid to act on the propositions against the sentiment of their fellow-miners, uncrushing his skull. He was about fifty less the latter should first hear the argu- ready selected two commissioners. On the ments on both sides. On the other hand, it is said the miners had an ulterior purpose in view in calling for an open meeting. The miners had not believed that the operators would ask to put in a written wages contract a stipulation that the men must buy their supplies from the employing operator, and they wanted the public to get hold of that fact. Also, they wanted the public to know that the operators were taking the position that they would not carry out the interstate agreement unless the men waived the law of Indiana requiring a weekly pay day and also bound themselves in writing to buy from the company store. Always heretofore the miners have only verbally agreed to buy powder from the operator at a fixed price, but now that the powder trust is trying to run the local powder company, which has factories near here and is owned by operators, out of business, the operators have taken the unusual step of asking for a signed agreement to buy powder, oil and blacksmithing of the operator. The joint committee had practically agreed on all terms of the scale when it was decided to go into the open meeting. The leading prices follow: Pick Mining-(Yardage) $1.66 in entries to 9 feet wide, and five-eighths of this in entries 12 feet wide or more. Break throughs shall be paid for at entry prices, but none to be made between rooms without operator's consent, Room turning, $4; room necks 12 feet wide to be five-eighths of the regular price. Machine Mining-The prices are $1.19 at 7 to 9 feet and 74 cents at 12 feet; break throughs at entry prices and room-turning $3 and $1.87 on the proportions named for Day Work-Punching machine runner, $2.82 per diem; helper, $2.22; chain or bar cutter runner, $2.82 per diem; helper, $2.53. Tonnage Work-Punching machine, 62 and 39 cents; chain machine, 581/2 and 361/2 cents, based on, respectively, screened lump and Blacksmithing-One and one-fourth cents on the dollar earned by the miners. Day Labor-An advance of 20 per centum except for trappers, who shall receive $1 per diem. The agreement for day labor in machine mines is with the understanding that there shall be no day labor scale except where there is what is known as deficient work. that is, work in mines where the conditions are such that a miner cannot make regular wages at the price per ton scale. When the open session began this morning there were about seventy miners and twenty operators present, with J. Smith Talley presiding and Secretary Kennedy of the miners acting as secretary. R. S Tennant, of this city, had been chosen by the operators to present their side of the case. The two propositions under dis-cussion, and as submitted by the operators, are as follows:

Payments for all labor shall be made twice per month, not later than the 10th or 25th of each month. That the price of powder, which is now $1.10 per keg, shall be advanced in proportion to the advance paid in the price of nining, the miners agreeing powder from the operators. Mr. Tennant argued that the enforcement of the weekly pay law would work a hardship on the operators and cause them an additional expense for bookkeeping that is not necessary. They felt that the miners might waive the law, as they had waived the weekly pay before there was a law. He said that the law itself provided for this waiver, and that by agreeing to the semimonthly pay the miners would not be violating the law, as some of them seemed to think. He claimed that it was an established fact that, as a rule, wage earners were better off with fewer pay days than with weekly pay days. President Van Horn, of the miners urged upon the operators to obey the spirit of the law. He said that the miners' organization owed it to the wage earners of the State who had secured the passage of the act not to give consent to its nullification. A. M. Bogle, the Chicago operator, who is largely interested in Indiana mining and who was the presiding officer at the recent interstate joint conference at Indianapolis, replied that the miners need not feel under special obligations to other labor interests in this matter; that the miners should say to the members of other trades that they should first accomplish what the miners had accomplished in securing the eight-hour day, the one thing above all others that labor was asking in this coun-J. W. Lackey, of Dugger, said that the operators should show some spirit of willingness to yield the point, inasmuch as the miners had done so much in that line for the operators. He doubted the statements as to the amount of additional cost that would be imposed on the operators by extra bookkeeping, or the inconvenience that would be entailed by the weekly pay day, and dryly added that at some mines where a 5 per cent. deduction was made for paying daily, if the men wanted their money there was no trouble about the bookkeeping. Mr. Lackey and Mr. Bogle got into a sharp controversy, Mr. Bogle frequently interrupting Mr. Lackey until a miner called him to order.

Mr. Ogle said Mr. Lackey had stated untruths and Mr. Lackey said the facts were easily ascertained and he would not reissue authorized by the new currency law tert in kind by saying Mr. Ogle had made up to date aggregates $143,870,400. tion. Mr. Tennant said that it was the understanding at the interstate joint conference that when the operators granted the 14-cents a ton advance in the scale from 76 cents that they were to have the benefit of the profit on the sale of powder and oi and in the charge for blacksmithing. If that had not been the understanding the operators would not have consented to the The proposed advance in the price of powder from $1.75 by reason of the ad-
